

Chat Etiquette:

This is one of the most important articles I write. This article is important to the integrity of our subs, the integrity of how I play, and the culture of our chat room. Those who have been with me over the last two years may tell you that our chat room is arguably the best chat room to be in during the year. Why? Because there's no bullshit in here. My transparency and integrity have never been in question. I care more about your money than I do my own. I keep google docs of every play I ever make, log them, and make them available for everyone to see. Granted there can be calculating mistakes at times but EVERYONE who knows me knows all they have to do is make the issue known and it gets fixed. There are no arguments in my chat either. If you have a problem with another sub, I will address you both to cut the shit. The money I have riding on these games is too large and too important for me to babysit. The money that we all have riding on these games is all relative to each other. Someone's $2 bet has the same value to me as my $2,000 bet. We are all in here together. I am here to teach, I am here to help win, and I am here usually 5 of the 7 days of the week watching the games, analyzing the games, and looking for live plays while being in chat with you. If you get in the way of that, if you stress me out, I will have to leave the chat at watch the games alone. When I have losing days, especially big ones, everyone will tell you that I will spend all night in chat being here for you to vent. Now understand, there are two differences. If we make a play on a team and they go down 3-0 in the first, or we play an over and its 0-0 after the first, if you start telling me our bets are "cooked," if you start complaining about the picks, then just leave the chat itself and don't come back until you're collected and ready to watch the rest of the game. I don't bet on 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 35, 40, 45, 50, 55 or 59:59 minutes of a game. I BET ON ALL 60. The second being, sure there will be games that don't look good and may be losers early, and we will have losing days but if you're going to corrupt my chat with the negativity of it all then go find another chat to be in. This group built itself its own little comradery these last two years and everyone who is here now are mostly return subs who know what to expect. Those coming from VIP or coming from word of mouth on twitter will see what this chat is like. This chat should have a family environment. We win together, we lose together, and when we lose together, its OKAY to vent. It's NOT okay to attack each other. Make this chat the best chat there is on the site and be in here as much as possible. Especially within the last 8 minutes of a game. Live plays come and live plays come FAST. I love this ride with all of you and look to make this season even better than the last two. Be patient. This is a marathon, NOT A SPRINT. If I have to continually warn you, or if you continue to troll, you're just going to get kicked and banned. Don't be those guys. Be the guys that make this chat stronger. I want to see 100 of us in here every night together. Let's do this gentlemen. Let's take our bumps and bruises and come out on top.

